

Man Alive

Golf Punk: March 2009

A man's one stop grooming destination – with a city twist. What a (w)hole in one!

Emporio Valenti located in the heart of Cape Town, represents a new diversity in salons as far as concentrating on male treatments are concerned. Apart from the fact that it features some of the most inspirational designs to be found in a salon, its ambience is well suited to treat not just stressed out urbanites but a host of well heeled sportsmen too.

The men's retreat room just that. Tranquillity and privacy deluxe with everything a man may not quite anticipate in a luxuriously misconceived ladies only joint, for it has a flat screen TV made for sports (DSTV in fact) as well as an array of DVDs to watch whilst enjoying a manicure, pedicure or neck and back massage, so you don't even feel obliged to make small talk to the therapist!

The treatments are, in addition, endless (special tanning section too) and the service is second to none. Hot shots can even share their sports / grooming experience with a best buddy or member of the family, if they choose to, as there is space for more than one guy at a time.

To become a "member" of this private room, simply call for a booking on 0861 3676746 or if you want a bit more discretion, book online www.emporiovalenti.co.za. Men's grooming has never been more simple or close!
